CRISTMAS OPENING.

The Splendid Display Made at Noah's Ark the Season's Event.

This Popular Store in the Lead
Now, as At All Times.

The event of the week if not of the season was the Christmas opening at Noah's Ark yesterday afternoon and evening. The people of Paducah have cause to look upon this store as a leader in the holiday business so that the season is not fully under way until this mammoth store has its formal opening.

Yesterday at 1 p. m. the doors of Noah's Ark were thrown open and an eager and expectant throng of Paducah's leading people filled the spacious store, and so cheering was the scene presented that until late in the evening, the store was crowded with visitors coming and going. It was hard to tell which was the more charming, the beautiful strains of music furnished by the orchestra, or the vision of rare china, delicate cut glassware and the endless profusion of Christmas novelties. China—Japanese, French, German and Wedgwood—in all imaginable novelties, and particularly the royal down blue china, was a most charming feature of the display. The completeness of this line was but an illustration of the immense stocks in all the store's various lines.

The manager of the store, Mr. John Lane, is to be congratulated on the success of the opening. The ability and push displayed by the management has built up a vast business so that Noah's Ark is a household word in Paducah. It is the housekeepers headquarters. Everything almost that goes to make home attractive, and housekeeping a pleasure is found at this store.

County attorney Johnson Houser and Attorney Dave Cross went out to Florence Station to attend Justice Dunaway's court.

Tom Lofton, a merchant, was arraigned on a charge of abusing Andy Drennan, a customer, and was fined $1 and costs.

Frank Purdon, of the county, has been warranted for going to the residence of a widow, Mrs. Simpson, and demolishing her fence. It appears that he had an engagement to escort a young lady there to church but was so much under the influence of liquor when he arrived Mrs. Simpson would not permit the young lady to accompany him, which aroused his ire.

The rain today interfered with but did not stop the sewerage work. It had a very depressing effect, however, on all kinds of business.

FOOTBALL FATALITY.

A Centre College Student a Victim of the Barbarous Game.
—Other Casualties of To-Day.

The Governor is Ready to Order Out the State Guards to Suppress Tolt Gate Raids.—Other Late News.

Danville, Ky., Dec. 2.—Carey Nicholas, a member of the Centre College football team, died this morning as a result of injuries received in a game a few days ago. The young student was very popular and the grief over his death is very general.

YACUI CURE FOR HYDROPHOBIA. Indian Specific for Rabies to Be Tested by Physicians.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—For many years it has been known that the Yaqui Indians, of Sonora, possessed a vegetable specific remedy for hydrophobia, which was not only sure and efficacious, but perfectly harmless. While always ready to apply the remedy when needed, the Indians have kept its constituents a profound secret. Recently Dr. J. S. Bell, a specialist, now at Hermosillo, has secured from the Yaquis their valuable secret, and a large quantity of the herbs necessary for its manufacture, and will return to the United States to introduce the remedy throughout the country. It is believed that its certainty and safety, combined with its almost insignificant cost, compared with visiting a Pasteur institute for treatment, will cause it to become the generally accepted remedy for rabies.

THE GOVERNOR READY. Will Order Out the Militia to Protect Toll Gates.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 2.—Gov. Bradley stands ready at a moment's notice to order out the militia and will if necessary divide it between the counties of Boyle, Bath and Jessamine. He will issue his orders whenever the state's protection is asked. The Governor is anxious to stop the toll gate raiding.

Guards Appointed. Nicholasville, Ky., Dec. 2.—Guards have been appointed for all the tollgates in this county, and will defend them at all hazards.

"SENATOR" LAMBDIN DEAD.

Passed Away at 5 O'clock Last Evening.

Funeral at 4 O'clock This Afternoon at Oak Grove.

Eddie Lambdin, who has long been known as "Senator" Lambdin, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon of dropsy at the residence of his uncle, Capt. W. F. Lambdin, after a lengthy illness. For over a month his condition had been such that he could not lie down, being compelled to sleep in a box, standing upright the wall, in which he was secured by straps. Death was a relief to his suffering.

The "Senator" was 20 years old, and although deformed in body possessed an exceptionally bright mind. He was a clever ventriloquist, skillful amateur magician, and was endowed with considerable histrionic and vocal talent. His physical condition resulted from a fall received when a child, at a circus, producing spinal injuries which resulted in life-long deformity.

"Senator" was popular with all, and was "mascot" of the local military company during all the state encampments, and for several years "mascot" of the Paducah fire department. He was an orphan, and lived with his uncle, Capt. Lambdin. His death is deplored by a host of friends.

The remains were laid to rest in Oak Grove at 3 o'clock this afternoon, funeral from the family residence. The services were conducted by Revs. W. E. Cave and H. B. Johnston.

OBSTRUCTED THE MAILS.

Serious Trouble of a Ballard County Farmer.

Sam T. Hawkins, a well known young farmer of the Hinkleville section of Ballard county, was arrested and brought to the city late yesterday afternoon by Deputy U. S. Marshal La Rue and locked up on a charge of obstructing the U. S. mails last July. Postoffice Inspector Vickery, when here a few days ago, got out the warrant, at the instance of H. A. Middleton, the mail carrier, who alleges that Hawkins drove into the mail wagon at the time named, with the intention of demolishing it, and succeeded pretty well in his undertaking.

The trial of the prisoner is set for 3 o'clock this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Puryear.

R. R. NOTES.

The "Canon-ball" Delayed This Morning.

Extra North, in charge of Conductor Cuthbert and Engineer Winters, delayed No. 203, the Louisville passenger train, until 6 o'clock this morning, a short distance north of Stiles. A flange on the engine truck broke and let it down on the track in such a manner that it was impossible for passenger to pass.

Sam Reddick, a section hand on the Illinois Central at Tamaroa, Ill., was struck and killed by a train last Saturday afternoon. He was at work on the track and did not notice the approach of the train until too late.

The Illinois Central has been the slowest of the great railroad systems to adopt dining or restaurant cars, but is commencing to put them in her fast trains to avoid delay caused by stoppage at eating stations. * * * Paducah now considers herself merely a flag station on the St. Louis division of the Illinois Central. She is talking up the project of building a road to Mt. Vernon, twenty-six miles away on the Air Line, and there are four railroads she could connect with.—Cairo Argus.

The Elks meet tonight in regular session, and it is requested and urged that all members attend, as arrangements will be made for Sunday's memorial services. The services this year will be different from any heretofore held, and for this reason a large attendance is tonight desired.

Mr. Henry Wheeler, aged 59, died last night at his home near Olivet church, this county. He leaves a wife and nine children, and died of consumption.

The remains were buried this afternoon at Kettler's burial ground.

There are 102 cases on the criminal docket for the term beginning next Monday in the circuit court. In addition to these, there are a number of prisoners in jail awaiting indictment.

The Deadly Typhoid. Mt. Olivet, Ky., Dec. 2.—Many deaths are occurring in this county as a result of an epidemic of typhoid fever. The scourge is the severest ever known in this county.

POLITICAL NEWS.

Judge Morrow Predicts Defeat and is Displeased With the Possible Turning Down of R. D. Hill.

Ex-Senator B. K. Bruce Made Register of the Treasury.—A Kentucky Negro Loses Out.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 2.—The announcement that the slate for Kentucky has been changed and that John H. Wilson will be made district attorney instead of R. D. Hill has caused a great deal of comment. Judge Thomas Z. Morrow, of Pulaski county, who has just been elected circuit judge, says that Hill ought to be appointed. He makes this statement in the face of the fact that Hill opposed him in the primary and was for his opponent of Judge Denton. He predicts that if Hunter is allowed to dictate the appointments Kentucky will remain Democratic.

PROSPERITY FOR MILL OPERATIVES.

Wage Schedule of 1893 Restored and Thousands Made Happy.

Providence, R. I., Dec. 1.—The era of good times has at last set in at Olneyville. The voluntary offer of Charles Fletcher to restore the schedule of 1893 to the operatives of the Providence and National worsted mills has been carried out, for today the increase of 20 per cent. went into effect. This will give the people of Olneyville a greatly increased amount of money, for the other mill owners have fallen into line, and about 25,000 operatives will be drawing the new pay, and many old store bills, the sad reminders of the hard times of 1893-94, will be squared and the local merchants relieved of the heavy loads they have been carrying.

POSTMASTER AT WOODVILLE

Mr. J. B. Flowers is Appointed at That Place.

Succeeds Postmaster Beck, Who Resigned Two Weeks Ago.

Mr. T. B. Flowers, of Woodville, this county, was yesterday appointed postmaster at Woodville, to succeed Postmaster Beck, who resigned two weeks ago, and against whom a warrant was sworn out by Postoffice Inspector Vickery for alleged shortage. The amount was $288, and Mr. Beck readily raised it and the prosecution was dismissed without the warrant having been served.

The new appointee, Mr. Flowers, is a very popular young man, and the appointment will meet with general approbation of the people of that section. Postmaster Beck was not removed, but resigned before anything amiss was discovered in his accounts.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. In cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WHEAT THIEVES HELD.

They Go Back to Jail in Default of Bond.—Police Court [News.

Few Happenings of Interest.—The Allard Case Compromised.

POLICE COURT.

The cases against Joseph and T. J. Hollahan, for stealing twenty-two sacks of wheat belonging to Mr. Geo. Alliston, of Bryon Mills, Livingston county, were called in the police court today and the evidence was heard.

The wheat was not identified positively by the alleged owner, but they identified the men as having been at a store there the day before. The prisoners finally admitted to being in the store.

The defendants claimed to be brothers, and the older one, who has but one leg, claimed he boarded the boat at Evansville, from which place he was ordered while peddling needles, and that the wheat was on board then.

The other defendant claimed to have bought the wheat, and the younger one swore he had $64 when the boat landed here, and that his shoes were blown into the river.

The older man claimed to have gone from Cincinnati to Evansville in a skiff, peddling at towns on the way down. They both denied stealing the wheat, and claimed their partner ran from the police here because he was wanted up the road on a peace warrant.

The case was argued this afternoon and the two defendants were held over, being committed in jail in default of a $300 bond.

The case against Andrew Boyd, charged with stealing a watch from the opera house, was continued until Saturday.

E. P. Porter and Isaac Scott were fined for being drunk.

The latter was also charged with abusing Frank Gugert, for whom he worked. He was fined $10 and costs on this charge.

C. Oliver Allard and Mrs. Josephine Spaulding have agreed on a compromise. Mrs. Spaulding, it will be remembered, recently secured a judgment against the former, breaking the will of the late J. L. Allard, which, if sustained, would put her into possession of much valuable property.

The terms of the compromise are unknown, except that Allard has agreed to deed her certain property. There is no cash consideration. One of Allard's attorneys stated to a reporter this morning that while the compromise was agreed upon, it has not yet been consummated.

The cases against the wagon-keepers were not called in the police court today, but were set for tomorrow at 8:30 o'clock.

DR. BROOKS NO BETTER.

His Physicians Hope for the Best But Are Apprehensive.

The Warrant Against Evetts Not Yet Changed to a Felony.

The warrant against Mr. Thomas Evetts, who struck Dr. J. G. Brooks yesterday with an iron coupling pin, had not been changed to a felony charge this morning, as was contemplated after it was learned Dr. Brooks' injuries were more serious than at first thought.

Justice Winchester issued the breach of the peace warrant against Mr. Evetts yesterday upon the latter's own statement. He stated to a Sun reporter this morning that before a felony warrant can be issued, an affidavit can be made, and no one appeared before him and made the affidavit.

Dr. Brooks' condition this morning showed no outward change, and there is still doubt as to the extent of his injuries.

Brooks had never had the headache in his life, but informed his friends last night that his head felt like it was full of something heavy. In addition he at times has double vision, which is sometimes an indication of incipient concussion.

A great deal of feeling is being developed on both sides over the assault.

This afternoon one of Dr. Brooks' physicians stated that while they hoped for a speedy recovery, their apprehension was for more serious consequences.

THURSDAY, DEC. 2, 1897.

When a fellow gets the worst of an argument the first thing he wants to do is to bet, go to law, or fight.

Lines, suits are fashionable in newspaper circles, and the more of them you have the more fashionable you are.

Some men when they have a competitor in business can't do anything to low down that will hurt him. The mills of the gods grind slowly but exceedingly fine.

In looking over our files of the Register we find several good reasons for which we might file suit against that paper, and as such action is the fashion now we suppose we will have to get in the band wagon.

The Spanish cabinet is said to be satisfied with the reception given to its plan of autonomy for Cuba, both on that ill-fated island and in the United States. Small favors are evidently thankfully received in Spain just now.

The stories of possible famine in Dawson City only emphasize the foolishness of those prospectors who rushed there this last summer and fall in the face of repeated warnings. If this winter passes without a terrible famine in the gold camps of the frozen North, humanity will have cause for rejoicing.

The silver Democrats are losing no time in perfecting their organization. On Jan. 8th, Jackson's Day, a big banquet will be given in Cincinnati at which only tried and true silver men will be invited. No means will be spared to show that the sound money Democrats of Ohio are not wanted. Bryan will of course be the guest of honor.

Secretary of the Treasury Gage has prepared his estimates for submission to Congress, and he estimates a deficit of about $20,000,000 for the fiscal year which ends with June, 1898. The Secretary is far from being discouraged at this showing. He believes the Dingley law will yet vindicate itself as a revenue producer. The customs receipts are steadily growing with each month. The revenue from sugar will soon largely increase, and also from many other articles.

The Louisville Dispatch is glad that John G. Carlisle has moved to New York City and is no longer a citizen of Kentucky, and says that "Kentucky would have been glad to have assigned him a niche in the temple of fame with her other great men." This is slightly ambiguous, but we take it that the "other great men" are Wat Hardin, Ollie James, C. J. Branton, Jack Chinn and "sech like." We don't know how Carlisle feels on the subject, but we opine that he can stand the loss of that "niche."

Mr. Bryan has at last vindicated Nebraska. Some Republican papers, enthusiastic over the returns of South Dakota and Kansas to the Republic, was weakening in her devotion to her 16 to 1 oratorical prodigy. That was more than Mr. Bryan could stand and so he has published a long and labored article full of mathematical calculations and deductions, in which he conclusively proves that the forces of free silver gained 759 votes this year over the results of 1896. Bryan can still pose as the favorite son of Nebraska.

The sewerage argument seems to have come to a sudden end; the Morning Venom, having exhausted its supply of misrepresentation and falsehoods, is now threatening us with a libel suit. We were sure we were right in our arguments as to the ultimate success of the sewerage system, and the council committee demonstrated that the system is a complete success. Our only regret is that it was not entirely completed under the present council's administration. They had the nerve to order the complete let down of the Morning Venom is a confession that its position in the face of its protest against the sewerage system is a complete failure.

minator world stand a good chance of not only catching the marble heart, but would be frozen into a monument of marble on the way, like the inamorata of Pygmalion.

He was an estimable young man in every way, and she was more so—estimable—in his opinion—so, with the idea of peddling his way into her heart, he saved and hoarded his money, and purchased a fine tandem. But the best laid plans of mice and men go often wrong.

They had ridden some 15 miles, and after snail-like and laboriously peddling to the summit of a large-sized hill, he, after mopping his dripping brow, gasped out convulsively: "M-M-May, you can put your feet on the c-c-coaster now." "Why," said she, "I've had them there ever since we started." He said nothing, but set his teeth firmly and grimly, and it has been his hourly wonder since then why he never comes for her to go a-wheeling.

A SUMMER GIRL'S CONUNDRUM.

It was night! The pale opaline moon swirled recklessly in an unclouded torquoise sky. And far below on mother earth a melancholy emerald trail with glassy eyes and silvery scales hopped in irregular, dramatic strides. From the branches overhead came the wierd screech of the sombre owl. A young woman came forth into the night and stood with upturned face to the sky.

The stars were misty, for the moon flooded the Heavens with its silvery light, and the stars hid their faces before it and sank back into the vast dome.

As the woman stood gazing at the glittering bauble of the night she was joined by the man who had a few moments before whispered sweet soft notes of love to her as they sat beneath the fragrant honeysuckle vines clustering over the rustic arbor. There was a tender pleading in his voice as he spoke to her again, and there was a sad and awful helplessness; yet he was brave and would not yield to the inevitable without a struggle.

"Willie," she said, as he approached, "referring to the subject you were discussing on the porch a moment ago, in which you were trying to interest me, do you know why you are so unlike the man in the moon?" "Because I adore you more than words can tell," responded he with the foolish fatuousness of those who speak from the fullness of hearts that beat in vain.

"Guess again," she said with a low, mocking laugh.

"Because, dear," he murmured with tremulous hope, "because, dear, I love you more than words can tell."

He thought perhaps she ought to know it, perhaps he had never told her.

She touched him on the shoulder lightly, and he looked up at her half in fear, as a lamb might look at some wild animal it did not comprehend.

He came closer and put out his hands to her, but she burst into a laughing laugh and ran away.

"No, Billy, boy," she announced in dulcet syllables air ala grande dame, "it is because you are not in it, see?"

Willie went back to the honeysuckle arbor of the summer hotel with a broken heart, while the young woman gazing at the moon waited for the next one.

I heard last week a good joke on an October bride. She was so careful in ordering her going-away gown that it should be so subdued in tone and style that no one of her fellow-passengers would suspect her of being newly married. In fact, she wore it about the house several times to get the new off. As they drove away, however, the usual amount of rice was showered upon them, which they carefully brushed from every fold. As they alighted from the carriage at the station it was drizzling rain, and alas! When she raised her umbrella enough rice fell from its folds to make a small sized rice pudding. The secret was out! Why do people throw rice and old shoes after the bride and groom, anyway? No one ever seems to know. Some say that the rice symbolizes the wish that they may never come to want; but there is nothing suggestive about an old shoe, unless, perhaps, an instinctive feeling that the new shoes may pinch. Then again I have heard of an eastern superstition that when two persons love each other, and promise to be faithful and true, the devil is annoyed, and is on the watch to make trouble between them. The angels, however, are watching for a chance to bless the happy pair, and with a view of distracting the attention of the devil in order to give the angels a chance, the shower of rice and the old shoes are fired at his satanic majesty, which he naturally tries to dodge, and while he is taking care of himself the lovers are taken care of by the angels, who bestow their blessings, after which the wives of the devil are of no avail.

Said a dear old grandmother the other day: "I never heard of as many entertainments as at the present time." In years past entertaining was a serious affair that was not to be trifled with. It meant the production of family silver, china from the kilns of Wedgwood and Limoges, and napery from the looms of Dublin and France. The table decorations were the invariable brass candleabra with prismatic pendants. And the ever and always cut glass and silver tilted structures for flowers, fruit and bonbons were classed in the category of indispensable. The pressed glass, plated ware and American china of today is just as pretty in design and texture and much more moderate in price than in the by gone years. So in this gracious era, under these happy circumstances we don't wonder at the large amount of entertaining.

Mrs. Henry Burnett received her friends this afternoon from 3 to 6.

The latest fad in fancy drinks is the Klondike punch. The ingredients are as follows: A teaspoonful of kirsch, a teaspoonful of curacao, a drop of the oil of peppermint, a pinch of sugar, a pinch of red pepper, a tablespoonful of shaved ice, garnish with orange peel and serve in punch glasses. For those who like mild poison it is supposed to be a very stimulating beverage, and is greatly recommended by all first class undertakers.

Speaking of Klondike, in Mr. Saby's sittings in the Cincinnati Enquirer, he says, "that young ladies contemplating matrimony will please understand that the export of women to the Klondike gold fields to provide wives for the miners may wisely be postponed until spring, when not only a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove and a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, but when the mountain passes are open and the ice is out of the Yukon."

So the miners will have to worry through until warm weather sets in without wives, as a winter shipment of candidates for the tribute to the arctic

ADJOURNED MEETING.

The Council Again in Session Last Night.—Salaries Allowed.—New Council to be Sworn in Monday

Reports Heard From the Engineers on the Sewerage Progress and Success—Other Business.

The council met last night in adjourned meeting, Mayor Yeiser in the chair and all the members present.

Councilman Williamson moved that the pay roll of the city officers and Consulting Engineer Elliott be allowed. The motion prevailed.

City Engineer Wilcox then read his report relative to the sewerage which was received.

Consulting Engineer Elliott's report was also read, and was listened to with interest.

Contractor White's proposition to make a change in the pumping station well was read. City Engineer Wilcox stated that Engineer Elliott said the well proposed to be put in was equally as good as the one originally contemplated.

Councilman Williamson moved to receive and concur in Engineer Elliott's report, and accept the modification in the pumping station, provided it does not in any way effect the original contract or cost. The motion prevailed.

Mrs. Birchett, keeper of the city hospital, was allowed $15 for a fence she constructed on the hospital grounds at her own cost.

The council adjourned to meet again Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

At 3:30 the mayor elect and new council will arrive and be sworn in, and in the evening hold its first regular meeting.

ENGINEER WILCOX'S REPORT.

To the Chairman of the Sewerage Committee:

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following report relative to the progress of the construction of sanitary sewers for our city:

The main sewer is now laid from Monroe street, on Third street, to Clay street, thence to low water mark of the Ohio river. From Third and Clay streets to the river twenty four inch cast iron pipe has been used—this is the main outlet. The emergency outlet from the man hole near First and Court streets to low water mark of the Ohio river has been completed. The pipe used in this outlet is also twenty-four inch cast iron.

Twenty-eight inch sub-mains on Harrison and its branches have been constructed, and all house branches laid as far as the property line. This is a system in itself, separate and distinct from any other than the main sewer. All the man holes in this system have been properly constructed, the grades of pipe tested and checked, flush tanks constructed as per specifications, and after three thorough tests found in first class working order. I would state in this connection that the utmost care has been exercised in the laying of pipe, calking and cementing joints, the construction of masonry and in everything pertaining to the success of our sewerage system.

We have now in masonry a valve chamber, man holes, eighteen man boxes which have been accepted. There remains standing a man hole and partially completed well which have not been accepted on account of the specifications not being complied with.

On Second street eight-inch pipe has been laid as far as Adams street. From Adams to Jackson street a six-inch pipe has been laid. Property connections have been made on the whole line from Washington to Jackson streets.

In conclusion I will state that the city employees have been careful and painstaking in the discharge of their duties; that the plans and specifications have been strictly adhered to.

Respectfully,
J. H. WILCOX,
City Engineer.

ENGINEER ELLIOTT'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council:

Gentlemen: In accordance with a letter from your city engineer, asking me to be in your city on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 29th and 30th, for the purpose of making an inspection of the sewer work to date, herewith make the following report after careful examination:

While the work on the main sewer has progressed slowly, I find its construction in accordance with the specifications. I regret that the work has not progressed more rapidly as the main sewer should be at this date at or near Ninth and Court streets. The delay has, however, in a great measure, been caused by the difficulty in getting pipe material, due to the coal strike during the summer and fall.

I find the Harrison street sub-main and branches practically complete with one small exception, that is the extension of a lateral between Third and Fourth streets, a distance of 300 or 400 feet.

On the main sewer and on Harrison street sub-main the brick work in the man-holes and flush tanks in full compliance with the specifications. The eight flush tanks now built have all been tested and found in good working order. The Miller siphon used proving thoroughly satisfactory.

The sewers are still a little foul from gravel and mud which got in during their construction. This, however, is being cleaned out by the contractor and engineer. I would recommend that as fast as the flush tanks are connected with the water pipes, the properties tributary to such branch be connected with the sewers as rapidly as practicable. In this connection I would impress upon the council the vital importance of all plumbing work being done in accordance with rules and regulations which should be on file in the engineer's office, and plans of all plumbing work, before being put in, should be submitted to the engineer in charge for his approval and a copy after approval be filed in his office.

In regard to the well which has been stopped on account of the failure to comply with specifications, I suggested to Mr. White, the contractor, subject to the approval of the sewerage committee and council, that if he would tear out the inner four-inch wall and core, replacing same with an eight-inch wall and core according to the specifications, thus making, with the outer wall left standing, a thickness of eighteen inches instead of thirteen up to the spring line. I would recommend its acceptance, as I think the work would be fully satisfactory on account of the increased strength and thickness of the wall, as if constructed according to the original plan.

The emergency outlet has been finished from the river to near First street. The man hole at the end of this line will have to be taken down as far as the spring line and rebuilt according to plans and specifications.

The satisfactory condition of the sewers, as far as completed, is due in a great measure to the untiring care and watchfulness of Mr. Wilcox, the city engineer, who has had the active charge of the construction, together with his assistant, Mr. Lyon. The work should be pressed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Very Respectfully,
JAS. H. ELLIOTT,
Con. Eng.

CONTRACTOR WHITE'S PROPOSITION.

To the Mayor and Common Council, Paducah, Ky.:

Gentlemen: I desire to hasten the construction of the sewerage system in every way possible. Therefore I submit the following proposition with reference to the uncompleted pump well with the approval of the engineers in charge. I will tear down the inside four-inch wall and core and build on the inside of the outer wall left standing an eight-inch wall and core of Buckeye Portland cement mortar with a core of Buckeye Portland cement between, thereby making a wall of eighteen inches total thickness in place of thirteen. The inner face to be plastered as per specifications with one of the following brands of German Portland cement: German Lagerdorfer, or "Dyckerhoff."

I do this for the reason that if I attempt to tear down all of the present wall there will be great danger of caving and perhaps a rise in the river before the well can be completed.

Respectfully submitted,
LINN WHITE.

PUBLIC OPINION IN SPAIN.

Citizen of Madrid Says There is None, and Tells About Cuba.

A leading citizen of Madrid tells some solid facts. He says:

"In Spain there is no such thing as public opinion. Government is a struggle between a number of professional politicians, and the people, regarding all of them as equally bad, look on with perfect indifference. With very few exceptions these politicians endeavor to further their own nests. When one gang has done this the other gangs combine together to get the upper hand. One or the other of them becomes the government, when the same gang recommences with the same result."

"The captain generalship of Cuba has always been the plum in the official pudding. Even a subordinate Spanish official there looks forward to a return home with his pockets well filled, and generally does. Were any Spanish government to recognize Cuban autonomy it would at once fall, for the Spanish people, indifferent as they are to who their rulers are, still believe in the Spanish might, and the gangs out of office would use this feeling to bring about a change in the ministry, and very possibly a change on the throne. On the other hand, to grant reforms would be to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs."

"Gen. Weyler had been captain general of the Philippine Islands. There he had amassed a considerable fortune. He has been increasing it in Cuba, although probably he has to divide the spoil with a good many of the politicians at home. His army is as rotten as the civil service. The rank and file are vipers. A regiment 1,200 strong is in Cuba. A large number of the men die, owing not only to the climate, but to starvation. The colonel does not report these deaths, and continues to draw pay and rations for the 1,200."

"The pay goes to him; the rations, that are not delivered, to the commissariat. If the regiment is sent to the front to guard some port or attack a band of insurgents, the leader of the band sends an emissary to him with a purse, arranged that while he marches one way the insurgents shall march the other way."—London Truth.

Nice Breakfast Cakes.

One quart of sour milk, one teaspoonful of soda, two eggs well beaten, flour enough to make a good batter, bake in griddles; make each cake about as large as a pie plate. When each cake is done butter the griddle and slice, pile up like a layer cake, then cut down in quarters. It is fine.
